

May I send you a complimentary copy of our latest special report on plants in the workplace and their effect on your “bottom-line”?

Dear Office Manager,

Do you have prospective clients or existing customers come to your office? Do you desire happy and healthy employees working at peak productivity levels? If so, then you know how important it is to have an attractive, healthy office that motivates people to visit and spend time there. If your office environment lacks critical components, you may lose clients and employees...often to the competition.

The good news is, there are proven reasons why adding specific types of plants to your office can make a measureable impact to your company's "bottom-line". Eleven to be exact. And all are explained in detail in our latest special report called "11 Reasons to Add Plants to the Office and Boost Your Bottom-Line".

May we send you a free copy? If so, simply visit our website at www.CreativePlant.com and fill out the contact form, or call us at 408-452-1444.

11 Reasons to Add Plants to the Office and Boost Your Bottom-Line unlocks the keys to a healthier, happier and more attractive office. It answers such questions as:

- What key factors impact your client's office visit?
- How do plants affect employee productivity?
- Why are aesthetics important in an office?
- How can plants remove toxins in your office air?
- Can you save more money on your utility and office maintenance costs?
- And much more

Why am I sharing this report free with respected businesses such as your own in our community? I genuinely believe that this report will be helpful to any business that cares about the impression they make on their clients – both current and prospective – and the impact that can have to their bottom line, as well as the retention, morale, and productivity of their employees. And, admittedly, it's a great way to introduce our interior plantscape services to businesses that may not have heard of us, yet.

So please call, or visit our website and I'll make sure you receive your free copy today.
